Stolen car crashes

Police are looking for a youth described as age 10 or 11 with shoulder length blond hair who was wearing blue jeans and a blue jacket last Friday when he was seen running from a stolen car that had collided with a van on Highway 519 just north of the stop lights in Haliburton Village.

The car, a 1981 Omni owned by Peggy Neville of Haliburton, was stolen from behind the Good Medical Centre. It was driven out of the parking lot past the laundromat, but failed to stop at Highway 519. It collided with a 1979 GMC van driven by Barbara Debler, 32, of Glamorgan Township.

Damage to the Omni was estimated at $400, while damage to the van was estimated at $100.

Moped collides with curb

Police say an accident which occurred in Haliburton Village Sunday, August 2 was not reported to Minden OPP until August 19 because the injured person understood Haliburton Red Cross Hospital would notify police in the case of an injury accident.

Richard Mark Creelman, 18, of Pine Street in Haliburton, was eastbound on Highway 121 at about 1 a.m. August 2 when he attempted a left turn onto York Street and hit the curb. He was thrown from his Honda moped and suffered a broken nose.

He was taken to Haliburton Red Cross Hospital and later transferred to Peterborough hospital for treatment.

Two hurt in head-on crash

Two people were injured last Monday in a head-on collision on Harcourt Park Road in Harcourt Township.

Daniel P. Jung, 21, of Oshawa, and his passenger, Ronald Quin, 20, of Pickering, were treated at Haliburton Red Cross Hospital after their car collided head-on with a car driven by Paul Horman, 57, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Damage to Jung's car was estimated at $2000, while police estimated damage to Horman's car at $1000.

Juvenile charged with theft

A car stolen from in front of a cabin on Head Lake Sunday was recovered a short time later with an estimated $1000 damage.

Gary Ernest Morcom of Downsview told police at 8 a.m. Sunday that his 1974 Duster had been stolen.

At 10 a.m., a car was reported against some rocks on Pine Street in the village. When police arrived at the scene they discovered the vehicle was the stolen Duster. Investigation revealed that a passenger at the time of the accident, 25 year old Gordon Haiker of Weston, had received minor facial injuries.

At 10:30 a.m., while the investigation was underway, the caretaker of Haliburton Highlands Pioneer Museum reported that the museum's lawn had been churned up by a car.

A 15 year old Haliburton juvenile has been charged with theft of the car and the related damage incident.

Truck hits tree

Damage was estimated at $2000 last Tuesday when a pickup truck left the Denna Lake Road in Lutterworth Township and struck a tree.

Raymond P. Dennis of Streetsville told police he was blinded by the sun while rounding a curve and drove off the roadway.

He was treated at Minden Red Cross Hospital for minor injuries.

Gladys Suggitt, from Baddow, took time on Saturday to explain the ways of the area's pioneers to shoppers at Cobocok's old-fashioned days. Suggitt wasn't speaking off-handedly. She's written a book on the pioneers of the area.

Tourist season ending

Resort owners, business people are pleased with summer despite weakening of economy

Energy prices and a consequent shift in travel patterns are turning into a two edged sword for businesses and tourist operators in Haliburton County. On the one hand, people who choose the Highlands as a travel destination are staying longer, and on the other hand, cottagers are coming up less often in the spring and fall, causing business to fall off more markedly than in the past.

Haliburton Village has done well this summer, but business in Minden has done no more than hold its own. "As far as Haliburton Village is concerned, the situation is extremely encouraging," Chamber of Commerce secretary manager Bob Stinson commented Tuesday. "Merchants are saying that it doesn't have to be a rainy day anymore" for stores to be busy.

Stinson attributed the buoyant business climate in Haliburton this summer to attractions like the Sky Slider and Head Lake Park, which he said have made "a tremendous difference."

Minden, in contrast, is holding its own, "but they haven't experienced the increase in business that Haliburton has," Stinson said. Among tourist operators, those catering to more affluent clientele are doing well.

Stinson said, a situation which may be attributable to the fact that inflation is hurting lower and middle income people more than society's higher wage earners.

Campgrounds are experiencing an increase in seasonal bookings, which are generally making up for the fact that "off the road" trade is down, Stinson said.

Among the businesses which appear to be suffering most from high gasoline prices are marinas, the Chamber manager noted, since people are using their boats less than in the past, and putting off purchasing gasoline powered vessels.

The market has been strengthening for sailboats and canoes, however, but high interest rates have made it difficult for marinas to keep up their showroom stock, the Chamber manager noted.

Tourism information centres in Haliburton and Minden "have been phenomenally busy," Stinson said, noting the increase in enquiries shows that people are visiting the Highlands for the first time.

The one big disappointment of the season has been the lack of American tourists, Stinson said. Ontario's extensive campaign to attract tourists from over the border apparently is not working as well as some people hoped, but Stinson said it may take a year or two for the full effect to be felt.

Energy costs are cutting down on cottager's visits in the 'shoulder seasons' of spring and fall Stinson said, a situation many local businesses noticed for the first time this spring.

Stinson said more local activities may have to be planned to counteract the effect of energy costs on cottagers visits.

The Chamber is concerned that activities geared to the fall colours have fallen off in recent years, and thinks the result may be a quicker end to the tourist season.

"I really think that we're going to miss the boat on fall business if we don't have more major events to bring the people out," Stinson said. Generally, however, local businesses appeared to be pleased with the season that is now winding down.

In telephone interviews Tuesday, most businessmen said they were affected less by the falling value of the Canadian dollar than by the impact of rising gasoline prices.

"We find people are planning ahead and staying longer," Godfrey Saunders, operator of Northern Eagle Tent and Trailer Park.

Campers are tending to plan a vacation at a specific camp for two weeks instead of travelling from park to park on a daily basis, Saunders said.

"Fewer people are driving in off the road," he added. "It's strictly the fuel situation," Saunders said.

At Buckslide Camping Grounds, Jean Geddis said they too were noticing a switch in people's vacationing habits. More and more, she said, people are tending to stay for one week, or possibly two, and their seasonal clients have also increased.

With the good weather this summer has provided, Geddis said.

Food poisoning outbreak hits camp

Health Unit searches for contamination; lab results expected soon

Health officials are searching for the cause of a suspected food poisoning outbreak that made up to 45 youngsters at an area camp ill enough to require medical treatment.

Local doctors were called to the camp last Wednesday morning to treat campers between the ages of 10 and 15 who were suffering from stomach and intestinal complaints.

Two public health inspectors and a public health nurse from the local office of the Haliburton Kawartha Pine Ridge District Health Unit were also called to the scene to investigate the cause of the outbreak.

Bob MacNaull, chief public health inspector at the Haliburton office of the unit, said Monday that isolating the bacteria that made the youngsters ill could prove difficult.

"It's a matter of trying to get samples from meals served in the last two or three days" before the outbreak he said, adding "that's not always possible" because the food may have been used up or the leftovers thrown out.

In suspected food poisoning cases inspectors take food samples, and collect faecal and/or vomitus samples from effected persons, MacNaull said.

Samples are also taken from food handlers in such outbreaks, he said, in case one of the handlers may prove to be a carrier of the illness without being effected by its symptoms.

Samples collected last Wednesday were delivered to the provincial health laboratory in Peterborough, and are currently being tested, MacNaull said.

The health inspectors also took samples of the camp's water supply for testing, and in an effort to find a common denominator attempted to gather case histories of the food the ill youngsters ate. Results of the testing are expected to be available by mid week MacNaull said. But he added that it may still not be possible to determine how the illness was transmitted.

"In a lot of cases where there is food poisoning, you can find the causative agent but you can't relate it directly to a food, either because none of the food is left or because what is left is not contaminated."

Close to 45 youngsters were examined by medical personnel, and according to MacNaull, "there's no doubt that some of them were sick". He added, however, that some of the youngsters whose complaints were vague may have been reacting to the illness of others.

Name of the camp has not been released to protect its reputation in case the source of the contamination was beyond its control.

"The camp may have taken all the proper precautions and it could still happen" MacNaull said.

Food poisoning is a relatively rare occurrence in Haliburton County, according to the chief health inspector. In many cases where it is suspected, it cannot be proven, and in other instances its symptoms, such as nausea, vomiting and diarrhea are passed off by the ill person as mild influenza or a 'bug'.

Struck crossing road, nine year old killed

A nine year old boy died Thursday when he was struck by a car on Highway 121, one and a half kilometres east of Ingoldsbay.

Ronald William McPhail of Freeport, Bahamas, died of head injuries after he darted into the path of a car driven by Wendy Joyce Wilkins, 37, of RR#1 Minden.

Police say the youngster, along with his parents, was visiting his grandmother and was on his way to pick up her mail when the accident occurred.

He waited for one vehicle to pass, then darted out into the path of Wilkin's 1970 Plymouth stationwagon. He was struck by the vehicle's left front fender and died almost instantly.

Coroner Dr. Anthony Holaday-Rhodes ordered no post mortem or inquest.

There were no charges laid as a result of the accident.

Tiger lilies never seem to lose their beauty no matter how often they're viewed. But the Minden flower show had much more to offer, as well. For more pictures and complete results see page 11.

Runners round Green Lake

First fun run draws 28 keen competitors

by SUE COOPER
Staff Reporter

As the fog began to burn away from the edge of the lake and the hot August sun warmed the surrounding hills, 28 runners took off from the West Guilford community centre last Sunday morning.

Since this was the first year for the nine kilometre Green Lake Fun Run, organizer Karen Thompson said she had been concerned the event might not draw enough participants, but it did.

The runners started at the community centre in the hamlet and ran along Highway 530 to the Airport Road and then followed the shores of Green Lake back to the community centre.

As the race began, the faster runners pulled ahead and pounded the pavement to make it to the finish line first. Art Shellnutt, from Palmerston, Ontario, took the lead early and held on to finish the race in 30:34 minutes. Don Cochrane, from Saskatoon, was close behind at 31:05 and finished first in the master men's (over 40) competition. After they had finished the race, the pair ran it in reverse to join their wives who were running the route a little less competitively.

At the finish line, the camaraderie was obvious as runners at the sidelines urged their friends to make that final push over the finish line. "Dig it out a little harder. Come on, come on," the earlier finishers shouted.

The friendliness of the morning's run filtered through the spectators as they donated money to provide the runners with soft drinks. But some runners had come prepared with mineral water and orange juice.

After the race, participants were urging Thompson to make the run an annual event. She said Monday it might be a possibility considering the good response to this event.

With six divisions up for grabs, runners were awarded finishing places in only one category.

In the master men's competition, Cochrane finished in 31:05, Ted Burns in 38:58, Frank Powers in 46:00, Bob Marshall in 48:26 and Roy Barrand in 49:34.

The men's open class (aged 16 to 39) had 12 entrants and results were: Shellnutt, 30:34; John

Thefts reported

A wide variety of items were reported stolen throughout the county in the past week, according to the Minden OPP. Included were three flags, two tires and rims, two automobiles, a boat battery, a moped, a mini bike, a mail box, a canoe, boat hardware, two water pumps, two wallets, six construction site batteries, a large bell, cash, a bicycle, a boat and motor, jewellery and liquor.

Items lost...and found

Minden OPP have had their share of lost and found items to deal with in the past few days. Among the items reported lost were a purse, a licence plate, a canoe, cash, a wallet, a box of toys, and tools.

In the found department were a wedding ring, a canoe (not the one which was reported lost), a wallet, cash, a case of 12 beers (apparently left on the sidewalk by a juvenile who saw a police officer approaching) and a purse.

Summer trade keeps stores hopping

dis said the park has been filled with reservations.

"Yes, it's been great. I don't see how anybody could complain," she said of the summer trade.

Neither campground operator felt they were affected by the drop in the Canadian dollar since they have had a heavy influx of American tourists in the past.

Motels have also noticed a drop in "off the road" clients as gas prices sky rocket.

Harvey Williams, of the Lakeview Motel, said his occupancy rate increased 10 per cent in July, but he too is noticing changes.

"Sometimes people would come in for one night and then in the morning they'd ask if they could stay for another night. I guess the weather helped."

Although the motel is still catering to transient visitors, Williams said the addition of a swimming pool helps entice people to stay longer.

At the Clansman Motel, Corinne Arseneault said people were also tending to stay longer at their establishment. "People are staying for a longer period. We've had a good summer so far," she said.

Arseneault said they have received significantly more fall reservations this year than in past years.

Both the Lakeview Hotel and the Silver Maple Motel experienced an increase in American business, but both Williams and Eva Little suggested it was created because many parents are visiting children who attend camp in the area.

Little also mentioned the new Sky Slider's affect on business, saying many of her guests indicated that they were going to take a ride. Williams felt that because business was usually good in the summer months it was hard to decide if the new ride had real effect.

In Minden, the Sky Slider was also on some people's minds. Mae Wolfraim of Mae's Country Mart said: "We should be more like Haliburton and have something like the Sky Slider."

She noted that while traffic had been good in the village, a tourist attraction is needed to keep people interested in the area.

"Minden can afford to do something. We're going to have to get smart," she said.

Unfortunately, she said, some merchants in the area were unwilling to give any exchange on American currency and that alone makes it unpleasant for people to visit the area.

"They're chasing away our American tourists," she explained.

But, generally it was a profitable summer with the weather cooperating, Wolfraim said.

"The people stayed around and it has been a really good summer."

In Haliburton Village, the summer trade kept store keepers busy and the traffic seemed to have increased over last year, Marvin Varty of Varty Jewellery and Gifts said.

"I don't know whether it was the Sky Slider. I can't say for sure," he said.

Although he didn't notice an increase in American trade, business was improved over previous seasons.

"We've been busier and steadier than in other years," Varty said.

But as the last weeks of the summer sift away, Varty said he notices that tourists are heading back to the cities.

"It's definitely slowing down. You can see it," he said.

Along with merchants, lodge owners also felt their business had increased this year.

Man falls from canoe, drowns

A 27 year old Toronto man drowned Friday afternoon when he fell out of a canoe in Little Eson Lake in Monmouth Township.

Eric Neils Dahl and a companion were fishing from the canoe when Dahl fell out of it.

Dahl's companion, Kenneth Russell Farr, 26, of Unionville, told police he felt the canoe lurch to one side, and when he looked behind him, he saw Dahl in the water about four feet astern. Farr dove in but Dahl disappeared beneath the surface. Farr, aided by local cottagers, continued to search for Dahl, but failed to locate him.

Dahl's body was recovered later that day in 15 feet of water by Ontario Provincial Police divers.

Coroner Dr. Blair Pierce of Haliburton attended the scene, and ordered a post mortem, which was held August 22 at Peterborough Civic Hospital.

No inquest is expected.

"We're running 90 per cent occupancy from June to September," Curtis Eastmure of Maple Sands Resort said.

"I'm not complaining at all. It was a super summer." The only problem Eastmure found this summer was the postal strike which caused him to lose a few bookings and because a deposit had not been received, there was no money to cover the losses.

Barry Shaw, owner of Sunny Rock Lodge, also had an "excellent summer". With increases in dining and accommodation reservations, Shaw said his business had tripled over last year. He attributes most of the increase to the fact that last year they were still in the process of improving the resort after purchasing it.

However, Shaw did notice people "are more wary of their spending" than in other years.

He said more local property owners tend to be dining at home while people camping in the area or staying in housekeeping cottages tend to dine at the lodge.

But Shaw said it is obvious the summer is ending as many "family people have headed home now" and more mature couples are vacationing this time of year.

"There's definitely not as many people around now," he said.

Steve Bowskill, owner of the Haliburton Sky Slider, was 'busy' Sunday afternoon placing beef ribs on the barbecue. The Sky Slider held its first family day featuring 10 free rides with every dinner.

In the women's open class, Joan Shellnut finished in 56:50 and Nancy Cochrane came in at 58:09.

Cheri Bruce leaves to spend a year studying in Brazil

by SUE COOPER
Staff Reporter

Cheri Bruce left yesterday on a trip that she will remember for the rest of her life. Bruce applied to be a Haliburton Rotary exchange student, and was chosen.

At 18, and having completed grade 13, she was denied the chance to travel to New Zealand because of age restriction placed by that country, but her dream of travelling to Brazil for a year is now reality.

"It's going to be a good experience," Bruce said in an interview at her family's home at Fort Irwin.

When she arrives in Brazil, Bruce will be moving into the same community outside Rio de Janeiro that Mike Scheffee, also of Haliburton, visited on an exchange program two years ago.

Scheffee's familiarity with the area has helped Bruce feel a little more at ease at the prospect of moving to a strange country for a year.

"Do I ever appreciate that," she said.

There won't be snow

While in Brazil, her main objective is to learn to speak Portuguese. One of the girls in the first family she will be living with speaks some English, but Bruce feels her trip will involve total immersion into the language.

"You have no choice but to learn it," she said.

Because Bruce's family has entertained exchange students in the past she feels she is familiar with situations that might arise, but she is aware that life is very different in Brazil. One of the differences she expects to notice is the distinct class structures which have evolved over centuries in countries with very poor and very rich people but with virtually no middle class.

The other difference that will probably strike her the most is the lack of snow at Christmas time, she said.

A year too long

Ontario municipal affairs minister Claude Bennett has announced that he intends to introduce a bill increasing the term of municipal councils and school boards to three years from the present two. Delegates to the Association of Municipalities of Ontario conference, where the announcement was made, are said to be applauding the move. But voters will no doubt be less enthusiastic about the minister's proposal, and with good reason.

According to Bennett, "the complexity of choices and decisions warrant the extra year to gain the knowledge and depth of understanding necessary to give the best to the community".

Two questionable assumptions underly the minister's statement. Firstly, he is suggesting that councillors and board trustees will make better decisions in the second and third year of their terms than in the first, simply because they would know more about the background and ramifications of particular issues. But that will only prove true if the individuals who hold office prove to be wise, concerned, and open minded, three attributes which are not always evident among people elected at the municipal level. Secondly, he is assuming that the potential benefits of a three year term outweigh the potential risks of saddling voters with one or more weak, vacillating or wrongheaded elected representatives for an extra year.

The trouble with Bennett's proposal is that it advocates a change that appears to benefit politicians more than voters. The nature of democracy demands that elected representatives be answerable to the people, and the day of reckoning comes at the polls. Lengthening the time between elections would reduce voters' right to choose the policies and directions most beneficial to the community. And in times when economic and social changes are taking place faster than most people can comprehend, there is nothing to be gained by weakening voters right to exercise their franchise.

The present two year term does have some disadvantages, but they do not outweigh the risks inherent in a lengthened term of office. Councils are frequently reluctant to initiate long term projects that require substantial expenditures, on the assumption that such commitments might unfairly burden an incoming council. Yet if a decision to build an arena or a park is the right one for the community's future, there is no reason for councils to fear handing over responsibility for a project's completion to a new council.

It might also be argued that holding elections every third year instead of every second would save money. But the costs of municipal elections are relatively low, and they must be measured against the importance of democratic choice.

The present two year term of office may not be perfect, but it at least preserves voters right to take poor performers to task. Three year terms will fuel voter apathy and increase the risk that communities will be held back by inept or narrow minded councils.

Two year terms should be preserved, Bennett's arguments to the contrary notwithstanding.

Dealing with trends

Tourist business in Haliburton County appeared to be stronger this summer, as area resort operators, campground owners, motel operators and business people revealed in an informal survey this week. But certain trends appear to be emerging, and the way in which the community responds to those trends will in no small measure, dictate its future.

Energy costs are becoming a major factor in travel patterns, and they represent both an opportunity and a threat. On one hand, tourists are looking closer to home for their vacation, and staying longer once they arrive. On the other hand, cottagers, who make up much of the 'tourist' business so vital to the county's economy, are driving to Haliburton less often than in the past, particularly in the so called 'shoulder seasons' of spring and fall.

Economic pressures are having a greater effect on the middle and lower middle class tourist than they are on affluent people, and the result could be that resorts offering less than first class accommodation (and charging less than premium prices) will be the first to suffer.

Attractions like the Sky Slider and Head Lake Park help, because they give people more reason to come to Haliburton Village, and more reason to linger. But it is obvious that local tourist operators must find ways to deal with the changing tourism pattern if they are to survive. That means upgrading facilities and offering better food and recreation.

And it means the community will have to continue to do all it can to make the area attractive as a travel destination.

Reader unhappy with Legion coverage

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Funny how you always think your home town paper is bias, in comparison to the larger Metropolitan papers, and is always secretly proud that the paper as well as the people are more willing to say, "there are two sides to every story," rather than condemning instantly, as some of our city neighbours are in the habit of doing. Then again I've often been referred to as "the farmer's daughter", and I suppose it takes me longer to catch on.

Take for instance your coverage of the recent summer events in and around the area we've been enjoying. The pictures and editorials on the Haliburton Rotary Carnival, the County Fair, the Midnight Madness Sale, the Stanhope Fly In and that's just around this area, not to mention the full page pictures and write ups on the carnivals and events elsewhere.

Why is it, I wonder, that the coverage for the Haliburton Legion Carnival consisted of two pictures and a small caption under each, but no write up. I counted five bands in the parade (my husband states there was more). I know there was over one hundred people served a hot roast beef dinner in the afternoon, plus there was music and dancing. There was a dance Friday and Saturday nights, with a live band both nights. There was a bus load of people come from Aurora, just for the carnival, plus car loads from Toronto and Huntsville that I met. Nothing was even said about the booths and amusement rides in front of the community centre.

I only hope the time never comes when someone might need you people to act as an impartial witness for their defense. God help them if they belong to the Legion and not the Rotary Club.

To the Editor:

I am writing in regards to the letter written by Florence Robinson that appeared in your August 19, 1981 issue.

I am one of those younger ones, and I as I'm sure others, was offended.

I would like to point out to Mrs. Robinson that alcohol, cars and radios were around a long time before the younger generation.

I also live in town and have been awakened by car doors slamming and people yelling, and even on one occasion had some very inebriated, local person knocking at my door because he could not find his house. He was definitely not one of the younger that she spoke of.

I don't feel that the lack of respect is caused by BOOZE, although it may contribute. I really think that it is the fault of those seniors who didn't take the time to teach the younger to respect others.

The point I'm trying to get across to Mrs. Robinson is that it is not only the younger people who should clean up their act, but the seniors who have introduced alcohol, cars and radios to us.

Governments win, people lose on oil

Editor's Notebook

by LEN PIZZEY

Drivers in Haliburton County, who already pay higher prices for gasoline than their counterparts in other counties to the west, north, south and east, can brace themselves for another price hike within the next few days that will bring the price of regular gasoline to close to $1.90 a gallon. And there appears to be no end in sight to the insidious taxation and 'piggy backed' oil company markups which are fueling inflation and taking an ever larger bite out of consumers' disposable income.

All of us may long for the good old days not so many years ago when energy was cheap and supplies appeared inexhaustible, but those days are gone forever. The truth is that energy will never be cheap again, at least not on the foreseeable future, and our lifestyles will have to change as a result.

But are the present increases in gasoline prices necessary? Yes and no. Yes, because oil is a diminishing resource and finding and developing new supplies is enormously costly. And no, because in their present form, the increases bear little relationship to the cost of finding new oil, or even, for that matter, to the accepted world value

The three annual summer carnivals and the fall fair which are held each year in Haliburton and Minden are over. We are speaking of the Haliburton Rotary and Haliburton Legion Carnivals in Haliburton and the Minden Rotary Carnival and the Haliburton County Fair, both held in the village of Minden. Although all four of these annual events were fairly successful this year, people keep telling us that its the same old thing every year and some changes should be made in certain areas. We are the first to agree but just what changes are we thinking about? We are sure that some of our readers have some suggestions and if so why not write them down and send them into the Echo and let us know about them. It's fine and dandy to say that this should be brought in or that should be done but it all takes money. On the other hand it all goes back to the old saying that you have to spend money to make money. Just look at the success story of the ever popular Kimmount Fair. They haven't been afraid to spend money in the past bringing in the big attractions and it has paid them back over and over again. There is one thing that we must remember and that is that no matter whether it be the Rotary Clubs, the Legion or the Fair Board they can't give everything away for nothing. They must make money if they are to meet their commitments. The only unfortunate part of this entire affair is the fact that many people come in and watch the parades and after they are over they drive straight home without leaving the service clubs with a cent of money. In other words they are free loaders who expect to see a gala extravaganza, but don't want to pay anything toward it. It is after these parades that these service clubs and fair boards must make their money. Another suggestion here seems to be that if the Haliburton County Fair board feel that they are grouped in too close to the local summer carnivals then why not hold the fair later on in September? It would appear to us that it would make all the difference in the world.

Secondary School Students are reminded that registration will take place at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School from Monday, August 31 to Friday, September 4 during the hours of 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. New students and adults interested in upgrading courses should register at this time. School will commence on Tuesday, September 8, 1981.

Please keep these dates in mind: Saturday and Sunday, September 5 and 6, 1981. These are the dates for the annual Kimmount Fair, "The Fair with the forward look". As usual they have a wonderful two day program lined up.

When some of Haliburton's former residents return to the village after a few years absence they seem really surprised to see that so many changes have been made to their old home town. Even visitors who may be here for the first time are amazed at the progress that has taken place here in the last few years. Most people we have been talking with are happy with all of the changes but there are a few who worry about the fact that we are growing too fast and if we don't watch out may lose our small town image. I personally think that we don't need to worry about it becoming the size of Lindsay like some people are predicting. It just won't happen without small industry moving in that will employ people.

Rev. Grant MacDonald, Presbyterian minister from Kitchener who has a cottage on Drag Lake, was a recent guest speaker at the Rotary Club of Haliburton. He complimented the Rotary Club on the good work they are doing with crippled children and in the community of Haliburton and surrounding area. He delivered a very interesting and thought-provoking talk on the "Four rights in a just society". Claims for rights has reached an all time high, while some are justified, a great number are extreme and non valid. Each right was explained in interesting detail. 1) Right to limit our freedom-there is no such thing as pure freedom. 2) Right to be responsible for your actions. 3) Have the right to worship. 4) The right to care, support and love one another.

I happened to be talking with Walt McKechnie, professional hockey player, at Haliburton Marine last Wednesday morning following the fire. Walt, who has a home at Eagle Lake where he spends most of his time in the off season, was telling me that he won't be going back to Colorado this winter as he signed as a free agent with the Detroit Red Wings. He said that he is really pleased with the move and its only a six hour drive from Detroit to Haliburton. He hopes to be able to get back for a few days during the hockey season.

Cheri Bruce, the Haliburton Rotary Club's out-going Exchange Student, left for Brazil yesterday. She is going to the same club as Mike Scheffee attended when he was the Exchange Student to Brazil. Cheri is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bruce of Haliburton Lake.

The summer season here in the Highlands of Haliburton is coming to an end as one can see by the drop off in business which tells us that the big rush is over for another year.

The Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto is in full swing and this will as always have quite an effect on the local summer tourist trade. Many of our visitors leave early to take their children back to the Ex. It would appear that the extensive advertising campaign put forward for this year's C.N.E. is really paying off. More local people seem to be attending the big event this year.

The Soyers Lake Ratepayers Association Inc. will be holding it's sixth annual Regatta Day and Corn Roast this Saturday, August 29. Water races begin at 11:00 a.m. and the Corn Roast is at 6:00 p.m.

Pic of the Past

Our thanks this week to Mr. Bob Brohm of Brohm's Variety at Haliburton for submitting this photo taken in 1930 on Lord Willingdon's Governor-General of Canada, visit to Haliburton. He arrived by special train and a parade of school children led by the Haliburton Citizens Band, proceeded to the fairgrounds where a reception was held. This picture shows the large crowd in the fairgrounds following the parade gathered around the platform to listen to the welcome address and to get a glimpse of the Governor-General.

Bill Smiley

If this column appears in your local paper with a black border around it, you can shed a silent tear, or a noisy one if you'd rather.

The black border will mean this is the last column you will ever read by Bill Smiley. It will mean that he has a brand new set of wings, and is swooping and gliding about with the cherubim and seraphim. Or that he has a brand new coal shovel, and is shovelling away with the incubi and succubi of the other place.

It will mean that he has succumbed, simply succumbed, to a combination of playing three roles at once: Head of the English Department, a German general, and a Man Called Trepid.

Head of the Eng. Dept. in June is enough to whiten the hair of a new-born black baby. First, there is the administriyia, about 10 megas a day. Please have your inventory completed by yesterday (60,000 books); Your list of books for rebinds has not been submitted, it was due last Friday; You have not completed the inventory of the classrooms in your department (as though somebody had walked off with six desks and a waste-basket since last June); Where were you when the emergency meeting of department heads concerning gum-chewing by custodians was held? Where do you hide every time you are paged? When will you have your course outlines ready, or are you going to use the same old ones, merely changing the year? And so on.

That I can handle. I usually stagger through and collapse in a lawn chair the day after graduation.

But this year another ingredient was tossed into the mire in which I wallow each June. It was known as Operation Get Kim-and-the-kids home from Moosonee.

With complete disregard for my advancing debilitation, she blithely suggested that I hire a U-Haul trailer, drive 500 miles, load her stuff - including a piano - into it, and drive home, with her and the kids in the back of our car, no doubt sleeping.

The piano weighs only 700 pounds. I can lift 25 without throwing my back out. I wouldn't drive 500 miles in a day to see Cleopatra kissing Joe Stalin.

That was out, and even my wife agreed that there comes a point.

As far as I was concerned, she could hitch-hike, including the 300 miles from Moosonee to Cochrane, which contains no road. But I had to think of the boys, perhaps being carried off and dumped into James Bay by mosquitoes, or eaten to the bone by black-flies.

So I swung into action, with my calipers, my maps, my calculator, and my wife shouting at me to tell her not to sell her toaster, and to sell her ironing board, because we have lost her other toaster, and we have an ironing board, an extra one, that almost works.

She hired a box-car from Moosonee to Cochrane. A mere $380. Still 500 miles to go. I dropped a few hints around the staff room, cheerily describing my problem.

Two friends of mine, who are entirely out of their minds, announced they'd go and get her and the kids and the stuff. "No problem. We'll drive up Saturday, pick up the stuff, turn around and drive home."

"What about the piano?" "No problem. We've done pianos before."

"What about all that driving?" "No problem. We'll take turns sleeping."

As far as they were concerned, it was a mere jaunt. As far as Kim was concerned, during $80 worth of long distance, no problem.

As far as I was concerned, it was a logistical nightmare. Supposing my friends got to Cochrane on a Saturday afternoon, and the freightyards

Column will appear on a weekly basis

From the Chamber

by BOB STINSON

In case you hadn't noticed this column is back to appearing weekly (or is it weakly) contrary to our earlier decision to only run it every two weeks. It was found that particularly during the busy summer months we needed to communicate more often than every two weeks when so much was going on. In the meantime, the Board has re-examined the advantages and disadvantages of trying to free up time for out of area news releases in this way, and felt that it was not worth while to sacrifice local communication for this purpose. The Board is still concerned, however, that our budget does not allow us to do the type of external news release program that we feel we should be doing, and we shall continue to search for ways to accomplish this.

and have the town make a decision on this property once and for all that will enable everyone to enjoy this public beach.

Re: Silver Beach

I am writing this letter to the Municipality in the hopes of bringing to your attention the difficulties I have encountered while trying to swim at Silver Beach for the past two summers.

I have been threatened and harassed to the point where I am frightened to stay on the beach by myself. On Sunday, August 23, 1981, my car was deliberately blocked in by the campground owner and I had to place a call to the O.P.P. in order to get my car free. I was detained several hours from leaving the beach and while waiting for the police I was once again threatened, harassed and erroneously accused of trespassing, littering, drinking and carelessly driving a motor boat.

I would like to state clearly that my only activity was swimming at Silver Beach with my children. I have derived much pleasure from this beach and have been swimming there all of my life. I would like my children to be able to enjoy the same privilege.

It is time to put an end to this unhealthy situation before someone is physically hurt!

I hope that you will bring this matter before your next council meeting to either appropriate the land or mark the private section clearly so that law abiding people can use this beach freely in the fashion it was intended for.

I would appreciate it if you would keep me informed of any decisions you make.

Thank you for your attention.

To the Editor:

I would like to congratulate the members of the Haliburton County Farmers Association for the excellent presentation that they put on at the Kirchesse farm today. The exhibits were most informative. What impressed us most was the expertise of all the persons involved and their willingness to answer the most elementary questions.

We have been coming to the Highlands for many years and have attended several Agricultural fairs. This was, however, the first time that we had the opportunity to see an actual organic farm in operation and we feel much enriched by the experience.

of a barrel of crude oil.

The incessant price hikes are linked more to government greed, mismanagement, and untempered spending than they are to oil company profits. Already, more than $1.17 of the cost of every gallon is tax in one form or another, and that bite continues to get bigger thanks to the policies of the federal Liberals and the 'ad valorem' gouging that was part of the 'promise' Ontario voters helped William Davis keep.

In comparison, total taxes on gasoline in the United States (converted to Imperial gallons and Canadian dollars) are 95 cents a gallon, yet the United States has moved to world price faster than Canada.

The most telling comparison comes in the amounts that go to oil producers, who must bear the cost of finding and developing new supplies of crude. In the U.S., producers receive more than 40 cents for each Imperial gallon, while in Canada, producers receive only 13.62 cents a gallon, or 3 cents a litre. Figures like that show why exploration in Canada is on the wane, while the business of finding new oil is booming in the United States.

We cannot escape higher oil prices, but we should demand that the money goes to make us self-sufficient in oil.

At the moment, our energy dollars are being squandered by governments that lack a long term vision of the province's, and the nation's future.

Think about it the next time you fill up.

I've always had pleasant memories of growing up in the farmlands of "great southwestern" Ontario. While my father wasn't a farmer himself, we lived on the family farm which my grandparents and great uncle worked. I remember waking up early in the mornings to look out my bedroom window, and see my grandfather out cultivating the corn field in hopes of a good harvest. And always following closely behind, row after row, would be our dog, Lady, running for days and days on end.

When it was dry in the summer, my grandfather's neck, criss-crossed with wrinkles, would be filled with dust.

When it came time to cut the first crop of hay in July, he'd always let us, the grandchildren, help. No matter how much we got in the way. And even during naying time, you couldn't forget the dogs,

Lumbermen dump the Legion meet Kennedy team in finals

by SUE COOPER
Staff Reporter

Haliburton lumbermen engineered the upset of the season last Tuesday evening as they eliminated the first place legionnaires from the semi-finals. Although the legionnaires had only lost one game during the regular season, they lost the two out of three series to the fourth placed lumbermen.

Heading into Tuesday night's game, the teams had split one game apiece.

The lumbermen were the first at bat and they took four runs on their way to victory. Gary Brohman was the first lumberman to get on base and a successful bunt by Jim Winn left two runners on the bags. Kevin Sisson hit a single to bring Brohman home and a homer by Dwight Sisson brought the tally to four.

With the legionnaires having to catch their competitors, Bernie Nicholls went to first on a walk. A double by Wade Stamp made the run count but it was also the end of the legionnaires scoring for the inning.

With Brohman back at the plate, the lumbermen managed to put another tally on their scoreboard. Brohman hit a single and a single by Kevin Sisson, brought him home. The score stood at 5-1 when the legionnaires took their second bat.

The lumbermen's pitcher, Ted Vasey ended the legionnaires' inning quickly with three strike-outs.

In the bottom of the third inning, the legionnaires narrowed the gap with two runs. Nicholls was on the bag and he quickly stole two bases to be in scoring position. Paul Wilson took a walk to first base and a sacrifice by Stamp brought Nicholls home. Jim Scheffee then brought Wilson in on a single.

Now trailing by only two runs, it looked like the legionnaires might be able to come back but another run in the fifth inning for the lumbermen lessened their chances.

Kevin Newell started off with a single, and a single by Dwight Sisson brought him home. The inning was ended with three strike-outs by Stamp.

Scoring ended in the sixth inning as Duane Lewis went to first after being hit by a wild pitch. Winn followed him to first and a double by Dwayne Sisson brought both runners across the plate.

The final score was lumbermen 8, legionnaires 3.

With the semi-final competition ended and both the first and second place teams of regular season play ousted, Kennedy's team was scheduled to meet the lumbermen.

The first game of the finals went to the Kennedy squad with a 9-2 victory.

The lumbermen started off well in the first inning as Newell went to first and came home on a single by Kevin Sisson.

But one run was not going to intimidate Kennedy's team as it tallied four with its turn at bat. Dave Nicholls walked to first and Barry Shaw hit a single. George Nicholls hit a single and Dave Nicholls came home. Ron Linklater brought two runs in with his double and he came home on a single by Gerry Walker.

The lumbermen weren't out of action though, as they managed another run in the top of the second. An error by the Kennedy's short stop left Norm Barry safe on base and Derrell Stamp made the run count on a single. That was the last of the scoring for the lumbermen for the rest of the game.

Kennedy's team took two more runs in the third inning as Shaw started with a bunt. Lee Bull was also safe on base with a single and a double by Linklater brought them across the plate.

Although they were well in the lead, the Kennedy men took another three runs in the bottom of the fifth inning. Linklater took off for first on a single and Bill Dobson brought him home on a double. Mulholland also made it to base, bringing Dobson in. Mulholland made it home before the inning ended.

Sports mouthguards available at HHSS

Dental staff from the Haliburton Kawartha Pine Ridge District Health Unit will be at Haliburton High School Tuesday, September 15 to fit students with custom-made mouthguards.

Cost of the guards is $7, which meets the cost of materials.

The guards are individually made from an impression of students' upper teeth and are described as good fitting, comfortable to wear, do not restrict breathing, and with a little practice, allow normal speech.

According to the health unit's dental health services branch, the guards will prevent most mouth and jaw injuries in contact sports. They are designed to be used together with external protection in hockey, football and lacrosse, and alone for basketball, field hockey, floor hockey, soccer, wrestling, gymnastics, volleyball and baseball.

In the past six years, over 5,600 students in the counties served by the district health unit have been fitted with the guards.

Finished mouth guards are sent to the school approximately seven days after the initial fitting session.

The project has the support and approval of the Haliburton County Board of Education.

Sports benefit from advertising

Harcourt Minor Baseball and Wilberforce Minor Hockey will share a donation of $411 through the generosity of local businesses.

The money represents the total discount and sales commission the Central Ontario Travel Association allowed businesses in the Harcourt-Monmouth area which purchased a total of two pages of advertising in the COTA guidebook this year.

Bill Smith, owner of Elephant Lake Lodge, said the businesses agreed to donate the money to the two asso-

Minden and Haliburton win, finals scheduled to begin

Minden seniors and Haliburton ladies have advanced into the softball finals after defeating their rivals earlier this week.

Haliburton had a great final game against West Guilford with the series ending 2-1 for Haliburton. In the final game, Haliburton was leading 7-4 going into the sixth inning, but West Guilford came on strongly to tie the game at seven-all.

With the tension mounting in the seventh inning there were two out and Haliburton had the last bat. Kim Roberts went to the plate and hit a solid shot. West Guilford's fielder could have cut it short but an error sent Roberts all the way home. The run won the game and the series for Haliburton.

Nancy Maughan was on the winning mound while Joan McKay took the loss.

In the Minden-Carnarvon series, Minden won with two straight victories. Before the series began Minden was a clear underdog having been unable to defeat Carnarvon during the regular season play.

Minden won the final game 14-12.

Lyn Winans had a super night catching behind the plate for the Minden team and the bats were swinging well for Barb Barnhart, Helen Burk and Nelda Cully.

Although the Minden ladies gave up 13 walks to their competitors, they came ahead to win the game.

Nelda Cully was the winning pitcher while Marg Darby was tagged with the loss.

The finals between Minden and Haliburton are scheduled to get underway Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Haliburton village. The next game in the three-out-of-five series is set for Monday night in Minden.

Soccer players tie West Rouge

Organized league soccer arrived in Haliburton last weekend when two games were played under perfect conditions.

In the first game West Rouge defeated Haliburton 2-1. Ron Perrin of Haliburton scored first on a high shot but Scott Milroy of West Rouge scored twice.

The second game was played to a 5-5 draw after two, 35 minute halves. Scott Milroy scored four times and Steve MacFarland once for West Rouge. Haliburton had two goals each from Ron Perrin and Melissa Creelman. Shaun Perrin scored an entertaining goal for Haliburton chasing his goalie's kick the length of the field and outrunning West Rouge backs and defencemen.

Paul Morissette, a teacher at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, officiated in both games.

The two games on the weekend were an opportunity for everyone to measure their skills. On the Haliburton side, 16 players took part. Three players who were used sparingly, Kathy Leeworthy, Craig Youngdale and Kristen Creelman drew coach's praise for continuing to support their team from the sidelines.

Haliburton's play was characterized by strong running. Often three or more local players were around the ball, preventing the West Rouge team from clearing it out to their open players. In addition to running well, the eight and nine year olds played confidently, attacking the ball carrier without hesitation. Kelly Youngdale, 10, controlled the play well from his centre half position. Don Perrin, 11, ran strongly the length of the field to score three goals and to prevent goals in the Haliburton end. Darryl Goodall, 12, played well in goal, clearing the ball with long kicks.

Coach Jim Milne said there is four good teams in both the younger 8 to 10 division and the older 11 to 12.

Soccer is an inexpensive game requiring little equipment beyond a ball. It is a simple game with easy rules and will not embarrass the unathletic. A player makes a valuable contribution merely running with an op-

Toronto Cavaliers win title, Minden takes consolation

The Toronto Cavaliers won the championship in the first Rockcliffe Hustler Fastball Invitational Tournament over the weekend. Led by Wolf Peters (M.V.P. of tournament) who pitched his team to four straight wins, the Cavaliers defeated Glen Grove in the final game to take the championship.

The Rockcliffe Hustlers lost their first game to Haliburton but bounced back to win their next three games and take the consolation championship.

The tournament proved to be a huge success to the Hustlers as under warm sunny skies, some 500 fans gathered to watch the action which for the most part was very competitively played. With the proceeds the Hustlers hope to promote Minor Ball next year and make improvements at the ball park.

The Hustlers expressed appreciation to everyone who made the tournament a success; the umpires who did a super job, the competing teams, Brad McKnight on the microphone, the ladies looking after the gates, the fellows in the gardens, Dave Titus and his crew in the snack bar and Frank McConnell and his Labatts Van who supplied service for the weekend. Labatts also supplied the trophies for the tournament.

In the first round, Haliburton took Minden 3-0, Fenelon Falls defeated Newmarket 6-2, Lindsay edged out Huntsville Leslie Adams 8-7, Type Hi Printing took Port Sydney 3-2, Toronto Cavaliers blasted Woodville 9-1, Glenn Grove outscored Huntsville Gulf 8-4, and Etobicoke beat Goodwood 5-1.

On the championship side of the second round, Fenelon Falls squeaked by Haliburton 5-4, Toronto Cavaliers defeated Lindsay 6-2, Glen Grove dominated Etobicoke 11-5, and Type Hi Printing got the bye.

On the consolation side, Minden trounced Newmarket 8-1, Woodville clobbered Port Sydney 14-2, and Goodwood got by Huntsville 5-2. Huntsville Lindsay Adams had the bye.

In third round action, the Cavaliers defeated Fenelon Falls 4-1 and Glen Grove beat Type Hi Printing 9-4 to set the stage for the grand championship.

In third round action on the consolation side, Minden blanked Huntsville Leslie Adams 7-0 and Goodwood dominated Woodville by the same 7-0 score to make it to

Hearst-Kapuskasing, Chapleau hunts limited to 2,305

A controlled moose hunt, limited to 2,305 Ontario resident hunters, will be held in the Hearst-Kapuskasing and Chapleau areas of Northern Ontario this fall.

The participants of this hunt were chosen from 8,500 applicants in a computerized draw held on May 6 by the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Licence validation stickers were mailed on May 12 to those selected. The hunt will be limited to 1,200 sportsmen in Wildlife Management Unit 23 (Hearst-Kapuskasing) and 1,105 in Unit 31 (Chapleau).

Natural Resources Minister Alan Pope said this was in accordance with controlled hunting practice, "to relieve pressure on the moose herd in that part of the province." Pope said that Ministry staff in Northern Ontario are optimistic about the success of the program.

"Since it began two years ago, the reduction of hunters in Unit 23 achieved our targeted annual kill of 110 animals, less than half of 1978's harvest," the Minister added.

He said hunters were extremely pleased with the less crowded conditions.

An aerial survey of moose last winter in Unit 23 showed the herd there had increased by about 16 per cent since controlled hunts began.

This land can be farmed: farmers

The Haliburton County Farmers' Association was trying to prove a point last Sunday and they may have succeeded. Since its inception the association has been trying to spread the news that farming can be a worth while venture in Haliburton County and the idea of "visit a farm day" was devised as a vehicle to prove the point.

At "Kirchesse", the family farm of Bud and Paula Kirchner, near West Guilford, farmers from around the county gathered to talk to visitors about various aspects of farming in the Highlands.

At the entrance to the farm yard, machinery for many farming activities was on display but the machines were conspicuously designed to be drawn by work horses.

Nearby, grains and oats grown in the area, confirmed the land could produce feed for a farmer's animals to live on.

Barns were clean and the absence of the Kirchners' jersey cows was evident as they grazed in a nearby pasture. The jerseys are an integral part of the family farm, which is devoted to naturally produced food. Raw milk from the cows is used to produce products like whole milk, skim milk, buttermilk, 40 per cent cream and yogurt but because the province of Ontario doesn't allow sales of raw milk products, all are labelled for pet food use only.

The jerseys aren't the only animals on the farm that must produce to keep the farm running properly, however. Laying hens are kept in a coop nearby and the farm fresh eggs are available for sale.

Young jersey calves in another barn aren't producing yet, but they will be replenishing the Kirchners' herd and will help produce milk in the future.

At the other end of the barn, a commercial belgium team was in its stall with a part Percheron horse on one side and a riding horse on the other.

Naturally produced food was on display

Occasionally, glancing into the stalls through an open window, a mare and her foal were enjoying the August sunlight.

As well as the Kirchners' and maple syrup, other area farmers had vegetable products on display. Potatoes, cabbage, carrots, squash already picked from area gardens were complimented by

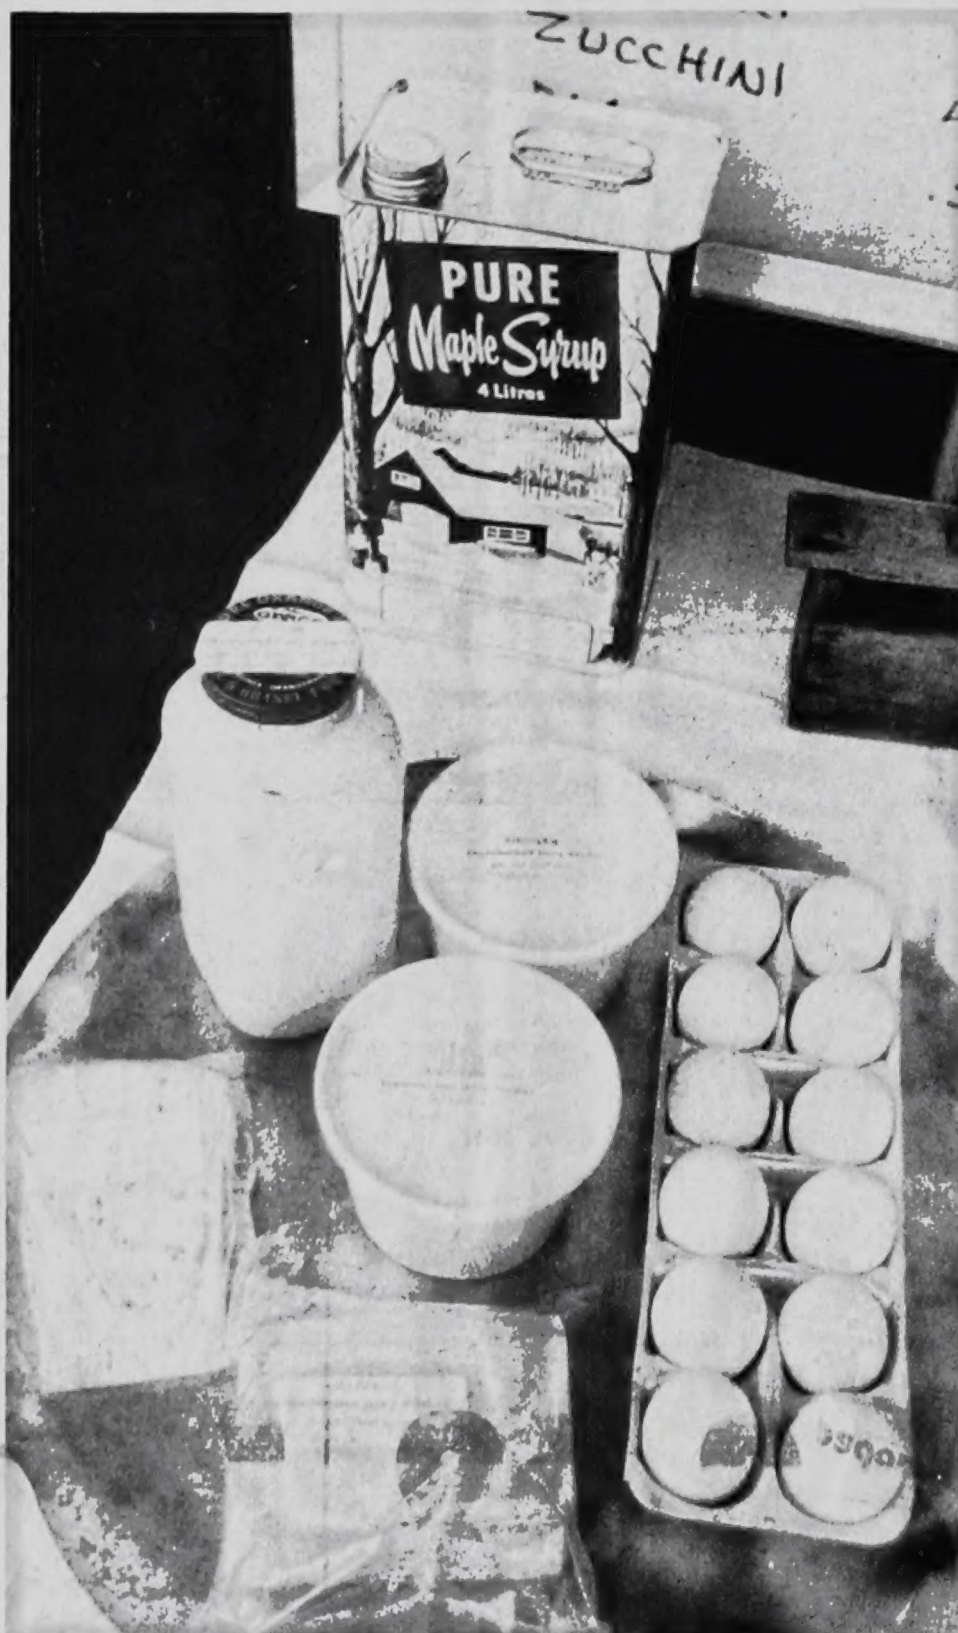

The association's blueberry growing experiment, conducted by Bill Moore near Kinmount, was also represented with a sampling of the plants on display.

Geese are always inquisitive and this flock was no different as they watch many visitors take their picture.

Jersey cows are an integral part of the production at Kirchesse.

Kirchesse produces many natural products but because of government restrictions, milk products are for pet food only.

This mare and foal were entertaining visitors on Sunday morning at the association's open house.

FAMILY

Parents shouldn't bore babies

Playing allows children to grow, parents should help

DON'T BORE YOUR BABY

Babies' play, beyond the pleasure it gives them, teaches them how to use their eyes, ears, hands, mouth and nose. Your baby will learn more if he has a chance to see, hear, touch, taste and smell a variety of things during the daily routine. Here are some suggestions on helping baby play and learn.

ESPECIALLY FOR SEEING..

Take a look at the view from the baby's crib: Lie back and look up - this is what your baby sees. To make his crib more interesting:

- hang brightly coloured objects or pictures in view of the baby (eg. a patterned necktie or kitchen towel, bows, pom-poms, tin foil balls).

- make a mobile and hang it 7-12 inches above the baby's eyes. Remember, the view from the underside is most important. Babies like checkerboard patterns, simple faces and bull's eye designs.

- hang an unbreakable mirror so baby can watch his movements.

- help baby begin to notice differences by changing the items hanging in his crib daily.

- change baby's position several times daily - let him view the world from his tummy, his back, propped up in a seat, on his side.

- when you're busy, place baby in an infant seat nearby so he can watch you. If you're in the kitchen he's probably discovering smells too! Since his hands are free, give him a little piece of the dough to explore. Let him have a taste of what you're making.

- play a simple version of hide and seek, cover a toy with a chiffon scarf and let baby find it.

ESPECIALLY FOR HEARING...

- sing or talk to your baby while attending to his needs.

- let baby listen to musical toys, radio or record player - music with a strong, clear rhythm is especially fun for infants.

- hang a noisemaker (bells, toy, etc.) so that baby hears a sound if he kicks or touches it.

- put bells on baby's wrists or shoes so that they sound when he moves.

- a saucepan and two fat carrots make a great drum set.

ESPECIALLY FOR TOUCHING...

- hang up a crib gym; he'll try to reach, hit, grasp and pull it.

- try finger painting; put a tablespoon of edible "paint" on his highchair tray - he'll enjoy the feel of substances that are different textures and temperatures (ketchup, pudding, mayonnaise, cool whip, oatmeal, water) - this way, if the fingers get into the mouth, he also has a tasting experience.

- place baby on new surfaces - smooth floor, rug, grass, sand, water - so he can feel different textures.

- put some small safe items (plastic spoons, a empty thread spool, some coloured yarn or fabric scraps) into a box. Try to vary the shape, size and texture of the items. Let baby hold and examine each one in turn, soon he'll be reaching for and grasping the objects on his own.

were closed for the weekend, and they all bumped into that old malicious bureaucracy: "Sorry, we close at noon on Saturdays. Nope there's nothing I can do. Just hafta wait till Monday." In some countries you can bribe officials, but not in this one.

Suppose all the U-Hauls were taken for that particular date. Suppose the furniture storage place had no room when they got here. Suppose the wife of one of my friends broke a leg, and the other friend slipped a disc before they started. Suppose the boys had scarlet fever when they arrived in Cochrane and the whole expedition had to be quarantined for three weeks.

At times I felt like General Rommel. The trip was laid on. The freight yards would be open (according to Kim, whose Intelligence Service I trust as far as I could kick a jeep), the U-Haul was reserved.

At others I felt like General Scheisskopf. The storage place gave me the gears and demanding a financial ripoff. Kim calmly said she'd meet my friends in the Cochrane station at 4:30 I've been there. You could not find your Uncle Dudley in the Cochrane station.

Monday morning we began our regular activities with the Fun and Fitness program. This program keeps everyone fit both physically and mentally and is held four mornings a week. The residents enjoy games and exercising to music. After lunch several ladies went to the Craftroom to work on their projects. We are proud of the lovely hand made items they are producing in preparation for the Christmas Bazaar.

In the evening the movies were shown in the auditorium. Portrait of Bermuda was a picturesque film showing us the beauty of Bermuda and telling us the history of the island. It is a very desirable place to vacation or spend the rest of your life. Forest Heritage told a story of how forests are cut to produce pulp and paper and then reforested. We learned how the style of woodcutting has vastly changed since logging began. This film was of particular interest to our resident men as many of them made their living working with logs.

Tuesday morning Rev. Douglas Miller of Minden United Church held service in the Chapel. Norma Barron was here to play the organ for the singing of hymns.

In the afternoon our Bingo lovers gathered in the auditorium for a game. The residents always enjoy and look forward to the weekly Bingo games.

After supper, a good number of people gathered in the main lounge to enjoy the toe-tapping piano music played by Ray Jenkins.

Wednesday evening there was a good turnout for Games Night. The residents enjoyed games of Euchre, Cribbage, and Crokinole. We would like to thank Stan and Eileen Blears, Percy Drysdale and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Parker for their assistance.

Thursday afternoon the members of Harcourt Community Chapel brought lunch for the tea party. They served a variety of sandwiches and goodies. After the lunch the group put on a play portraying the story of David and Goliath and then sang a number of spiritual songs. The residents thoroughly enjoyed the food and entertainment and also the children who were with the group. Our thanks to all these people for a most enjoyable afternoon.

Friday afternoon several residents went to the Flower Show which was held at the Minden Community Centre. The floral arrangements on display were just beautiful. Our residents enjoyed refreshments before leaving to go home.

Everyone then gathered in the lounge for the Sing Song. Grace Coburn led the singing with Maron Rose accompanying on the piano.

DISTRICT NEWS

Kinmount Korner

by Millie Moss

And wasn't that a party? The Kinmount Flower Show, that is. The afternoon session wasn't overly busy but those who attended, had very nice comments to make about the lovely displays and thoroughly enjoyed the delicious doughnuts that were prepared right in our Community Hall kitchen, by the capable Lorrie Scott and her willing assistants, Mary Ann Phillips and Julie Woodcock. Congratulations to all the winners and better luck next year on the ones you missed this year. Thanks to all who helped serve and clean up later and to all the donors of prizes. While the congratulations are being handed out, a big one goes to Dave McNamara who, in his 83rd year took top honours as having the best garden. As Guy Scott reported while presenting Dave his prize "there wasn't a blade of grass or a twig out of place, I know, because we looked." I personally can attest to the McNamara's beautiful grounds as I go there at least once a month and I'll be peeking into your new garden book one of these days, Dave. The evening show was very active with many viewers and lots of friendly visiting and donut downing. The evening ended with the special presentation of prizes and short speeches and after all the frenzy of preparing for the show, it was all too soon at an end for another year. Now we are looking forward to our houseplant, vegetable and cake show which will be held at the Kinmount Legion Hall, Wednesday, September 16, 3:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. only. Admission to this show will be the same as the Flower Show, adults 75 cents and children 12 and under 25 cents. There will be refreshments and door prizes and a raffle to be drawn the same night. We hope to see you there.

Gertie Spencer of Bacon Line is in hospital following surgery. Hope you're back home soon, Gertie. I'm told that Sarah Knowles of Irondale is "hoping well" around her gorgeous garden following her foot surgery.

The couple I reported hearing of last week, as having been involved in a motor accident, turned out to be Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Binger of White Lake Road. Mr. Binger has been released from hospital after suffering a concussion but Mrs. Binger who was more seriously injured remains a patient in hospital in Brampton but may be moved up to Lindsay hospital in a few weeks if her condition permits. Let's hope they will both be completely healed and back home very soon. Such a sad ending to what had started out a happy affair. They had just left their grandson's wedding and were driving to attend the wedding reception when the accident occurred.

Betty and John Lonsdale of RR1 Kinmount along with Ruby Schell, visited and had dinner with Ruby's sisters, Mrs. Vera Clark, at her home in Jackson's Point and Eva Smith at her Sutton home Wednesday, August 12.

Ted and Irene McNamara of Oro Station visited at the home of Dave and Irene McNamara over a recent weekend to pick up their son David, who is the senior McNamara's youngest grandson and had been staying with them for a week or two.

Welcome to our town, to our latest newcomers, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor who have purchased the house next door to Ruby Schell. They are making lots of changes in the house and last week had a well dug and right by the house too. The Taylor's will be weekend and holiday time visitors until such time as Jack retires.

Bill and Mary Card of Jackson's Point have been visiting the Balsam Lake Provincial Park of late and called on Helen and Alex Graham and Mary L. and John Pyke in Norland, August 17 and 18.

On Monday, August 17, there was a small chimney fire at the home of Lil Bailey at Norland. All was under control by the time Norm Graham arrived on the scene.

Irene Emery, formerly of Kinmount but now residing in Scarborough, is an avid reader of our Haliburton County Echo, I'm told and some of the local folks say they hear more of what's going on around home from you, Irene, than what they hear right

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of Wm. Avery who passed away suddenly last Thursday, August 20. Kinmount show is still flowering

After revamping the Kinmount flower show organizers were concerned it might not be as successful, but their fears were quelled on Thursday when the show came off without a hitch.

Mary Hartin Sr., president of the Kinmount and District Horticultural Society, said she had been concerned the show might not be as interesting as in the past, since it had been divided into two shows with another house plant show scheduled in September. However, she said, area gardeners came out to make the show a success once again.

As well as all the local gardeners, Hartin said the club's seniors should be congratulated for their contribution to the show.

Hartin was the top competitor at this year's show, as she amassed 232 points to take first place. Clara Watson and Nora Crego tied for second place with 72 points and third prize was awarded to Guy Scott with 68 points.

Area gardens were also judged with first prize awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Dave MacNamara with 87 points. Barbara Fountain placed second with 80 points; Jane Rolfe was third with 63 points and the judges awarded fourth prize to Millie Moss with 59 points.

Prizes were awarded in the many different classes Thursday afternoon.

Minden show blooms again

Margo Ziorgen took top honours at annual event

Although flower gardens near Minden might be a little barren this week, it won't be a hardship since anyone interested in viewing the best blooms in the area had an excellent chance last week.

Breakfast was early Saturday morning for the golfers who were scheduled to participate in the tournament at PineStone. The ladies were to join them for dinner at 4:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Harrison left Thursday morning to deliver a car to the west coast and plan to tour Vancouver Island and return by plane.

Jill and Randy Fyfe said good-bye to relatives and left for their new home in Winnipeg. Jill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cranley and, with her small daughter, has been spending the summer on Boshkung and Hawk Lake.

We are pleased to know that Mr. McKinley is now convalescing at his home.

Mrs. Lil Vass, sister of Jack Gregory, at the age of 88, travelled from Prince Edward Island and has been visiting the Gregorays and will be attending the family reunion this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wes Johnson and Mrs. F. Henderson have been spending a week at their summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cowan are also here for a week.

Mrs. Floyd Hie has been spending a few days with Mrs. Fred Tove. They called because they'd usually have dug deep holes in the hay field, and the trailer's wheels would get stuck in the ruts.

I remember walking home from a one room school house, when we were in grades one and two, and we'd roll around in my uncle's wheat field for hours. While we were often suspected for taking part in this heinous crime, I don't recall ever being caught.

We always had a great time riding trail bikes on farmer's trails and we sometimes took our parents' vehicles down them before we had our driver's licenses. There were cool spring days spent during all the neighbours' kids to see who would be the first one to swim in the irrigation pond that year. And you could always count on getting a hot lunch at grandma's house, even if it only was chicken haddies.

There was the time, (I remember it all too well), mean old "Billy the Bull" broke down the fence and chased the three of us into the corn wagon. And as a last resort my brother, who was probably six or seven, made a wild dash to safety (and grandma) about 20 feet away.

But there weren't always good times. I'm sure there were disappointments at harvest time, and I wasn't old enough to understand the financial restraints of being a farmer. I used to hate having to hoe all the Deadly Nightshade out of the beans and cleaning chickens on Saturday mornings has never pleased me.

My body took lashings when the pony would take off through the corn field and refuse to stop. The pig manure from the neighbour's field always seemed to smell the worst on Friday afternoons, and the irrigation pond all but dried up in the summer.

But those days are gone now. The farm has been rented out for years, and it could be that none of my family will ever farm it again.

This Sunday, though, I wished I lived in that old red brick farmhouse that was built by my ancestors in 1866. It was "visit a farm" day sponsored by the Haliburton County Farmer's Association. Although the methods are completely different, the way of life is still the same.

It's a way of life that makes you happy to get up in the morning, although your bones may ache and your fingers might be tired. Even when times are hectic, there always seemed time to stop and have a cup of coffee with your neighbour or spend a few more minutes at the Co-op talking to the other farmers.

And there always seemed like there was time to talk to your grandchildren and teach them a way of life that might give them peace of mind.

Chatting with Irene

It seems our holidays are over, as far as meetings go. Once September comes all organizations start gearing up for the winter.

If anyone ever asks you what is done up here in the winter and how one keeps busy, just invite them up for a winter and they will find out, won't they?

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Austen and daughters of Riverview, New Brunswick have been visiting friends and relatives in the area.

There will be a sale of good used items upstairs at St. Paul's Parish Hall, this Friday, August 28 from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Anne Schell of Sudbury visited friends and relatives in the area this past weekend. "Attention" all Minden library readers. The big day has finally arrived. The Minden Library will be closed the week of September 7 as the books will be moved into the new library that week. Hopefully it will re-open in the new location on September 12 at regular time but be sure and get enough reading material ahead of time to last you through the week. I know you will all wish to see the new library once it is opened.

Don't let the coral scare you for it was put up to keep people off the grass until it got growing and is it ever looking nice now.

Misses Mara, Erin and Shannon O'Brien of Toronto spent a holiday with their grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul O'Brien recently.

Coming events for next week are: September 1, the Minden and District Horticultural meeting at the Municipal Bldg. at 7:30 p.m.; September 2, the United Church Women meet in the Church hall at 7:30 p.m.; September 3, all committees connected with the Library Culture Centre meet at the Municipal bldg. at 8 p.m. to make plans for the official opening.

Marg Frise of Richmond Hill visited friends in Minden last week.

From all accounts the baseball tournament last weekend was a great success. Hope that it was a bit cooler on Sunday for them than Saturday was. In the afternoon on Saturday one could fry an egg on the car hood if it hadn't been for the dust.

Laura Bird of Toronto is holidaying at her home this week.

Several ladies came out big winners at Rotary Bingo last week. Sherry Walker won the snowball of $108 in 22 nos. Pearl Cowen won the jackpot of $250 in 52 nos. Congratulations ladies and don't spend it all in one place.

The Fred Hewitt family of Scarborough and Dr. Neil Hewitt of Carlton Place spent the weekend with their mother, Mrs. Joyce Hewitt.

Minden Minor Hockey are holding a Tag day on Saturday, September 5, so don't turn the kids down when they ask you to buy a tag.

Blake Hughes and daughters of Mississauga visited Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Hughes and other relatives last weekend.

Pickling time is upon us but have you ever tried this recipe? Garlic-dill Zucchini slices: 6 cups white vinegar; 1 1/2 cups sugar; 1/2 cup coarse salt; 2 tbsps dill seed; 4 lb zucchini, cut in 1/2" slices (unpeeled); 4 onions sliced thin; 2 tomatoes peeled and sliced; cloves of garlic.

Bring vinegar, sugar, salt and dill seeds to a boil in saucepan. Pour mixture over zucchini and onion slices, and allow to stand 1 hour. Bring all the mixture to a boil, add tomato slices and cook for 3 minutes. Pack into hot sterilized jars leaving 1/8" headspace. Add 1 clove of garlic to each jar and seal immediately. Makes about 3 - 4 quarts.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brownridge and family of Scarborough and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dawkins of Rexdale spent the weekend at their cottages.

The Horticultural Flower Show last week was a great success. The display was arranged in a lovely manner and the junior members are to be complimented as well as the adults.

Tommy Prentice and Tommy Northgate enjoyed their camping trip to Arrowhead Park last week. Terry and Tony Prentice told me they were going to England but the twins have great imaginations for they never left home!

Debbie Weaver was honoured at a bridal shower, held in the church basement of Faith Tabernacle on Tuesday evening. Over 60 friends and relatives were there to shower Debbie with many beautiful gifts. It was nice that her Grandma, Mrs. Maisie Brohm, just home from hospital following surgery, was there to share this happy

Prior to taking up residence at the Senior Citizen's Home in Minden, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Harrison have had visits from most of their family. Bert, who has been writing a poem for most occasions around Carnarvon, has written the following:

"My wife and I are going to live at Hyland Crest. We both are getting up in years and thought it for the best. Most folks, who live down there, say it's the place to be if you have trouble changing gears, or water on the knee. They say the meals are really good, the nurses, they are grand, they check your pulse and heart beat and, maybe, hold your hand. You don't wash dishes anymore, or have to clean and scrub, if you would like a nice warm bath, they dump you in a tub. We'll tell you more, later on, when we get to be their guests just how that we are faring, down at Hyland Crest."

I am sure everything will be fine, brother Bert.

The front grounds of the Moss household on the Avenue is being drastically changed by the removal of many trees and being a lover of trees I'm staying inside so I don't have to watch.

Ida and Clyde Pardy of Coboconk were late Friday night visitors of ours getting prepared for the "Coby" Centennial. Bet that will be some big affair.

Hopefully, next week I may be back on a more even keel and even give you recipe savers, another goodie for your files.

In the meantime give me a call at 488-2399 if you have news of interest. Stay healthy and have a good day.

Chatting with Irene

not matter? Last Sunday about 1 p.m. I stood and watched a child trying to get into the public washroom. The family was in town, the children playing in the playground, but when the washroom was needed it was locked. In the wintertime this could be understood. In the summertime it can't, not when people use the town for a place of interest with anywhere from 4 to 8 buses at least each Sunday.

I also understand that the washrooms are locked every day before 6 p.m. in the summer. If this is the case why were they built at all? If they want to keep them locked after all the offices are closed then it might be wise to build an outdoor privy for those children who use the playground after 5 p.m. To me, a taxpayer, the public washrooms are a waste of our money if they are not open when needed in the summer.

The Minden Curling Club are holding a Mammoth Auction Sale and sale of baking at the new Curling Club on Saturday, September 5 starting at 11 a.m. The sale will be inside so you will have a chance to see the new building. If you wish to donate to this cause please phone 286-1242.

Having been a resident in this town for over 45 years I sure hate to see the way Minden is sliding back. Our children can't find work so we are losing our young people. Those who stay can barely get by. If someone doesn't soon get moving it will become a retired citizens town rather than a growing community. Now they have passed the buck to the BIA regarding the opening by the old S.W. Welch Store. This is treason as far as I can see for driving out that entrance onto main street is far easier than that hill at Peck Street and one is more careful as well as having a better view of traffic both ways. As one person remarked, there has never been an accident there at least in 40 odd years. The way some people drive on the main street, it is a wonder that anyone is alive.

I have had my say for now so Adios and take care now.

I enjoyed a sales meeting at Minden on Monday evening and got acquainted with new manager Frank White from Milford Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Routley joined in festivities honoring Millie's father, Les Putterbough of Norland last Sunday, on the occasion of his 90th birthday. I hear it was a big day for this well known gentleman, a retired farmer who used to farm Bexley. Many more happy years Mr. Putterbough!

Our sympathy to the many relatives here of the late Nellie (Mrs. Lewis) Harrison of Bobcaygeon who was laid to rest. Nellie was a sister of Elva Hannivan, Carmen Pearce and Mary Wilkinson, and Jack Pearce who lives here.

Also, our sympathy to the family of the late Bill Burton who passed away in Lindsay and also has a home on Baseline Road here.

Snowdon News

A Flea Market/Auction Sale, held June 27 proved to be very much a success. It seems to have been profitable for all the participants.

Because of the mail strike, this newsletter was held back, however, we hope it is not too late to thank all the people who were on hand to organize and help with the days activities.

We also wish to thank everyone who contributed items toward the auction, as it was these items which made the day a success. A special thanks to Carol Douglas who donated her time and talents as auctioneer... a superb job.

Our Summer Canada '81 work project is well underway. Three local lads are presently employed, and have been working on improving our cross-country ski trails, and the proposed park site area. They have also built picnic tables which are currently situated at the Irondale and Lochlin Parks.

Two dances are planned before the year end. One will be held in October and the other in December. More information will be available on these dances as there dates draw nearer.

The next meeting will be at the Gelert Community Centre on Monday, September 14, at 7:30 p.m.

This group is trying to improve your community. Your interest and/or support would be most welcomed. All persons are cordially invited to attend any or all of our open meetings.

DIRECTORS WANTED

Now that the Annual meeting date is set it means, of course, that the annual search is on for new Directors. We would be pleased to talk with any member of the business community who may be interested in running for the board this year. To run you do not necessarily have to agree with how we have been doing things, or even how we are planning on doing things, since all sides of view in any discussion is a worth while objective. We just ask that any candidate share our optimism for the future possibilities of the county and the enthusiasm to help make it happen.

If you're interested either talk to one of our present directors, or call the Manager at 286-1760.

WHAT'S NEW

We mentioned last week that Wig-A-Mog Inn were having their official opening and it was a gala occasion with guests connected with the Resort Industry attending from all over Ontario. Premiere Bill Davis, following the official opening there, journeyed to Kilcoo Camp on Gull Lake to unveil a plaque commemorating their 50th Anniversary. The camp has acquired a phenomenal reputation under first the directorship of Charles Plewman, and now John Latimer, who himself was a camper and a counsellor at the camp in his youth. Our congratulations certainly go out to John and his staff for their achievements and we thank them for the contribution their establishment has made to the Highlands.

Haliburton Marine, after suffering a disastrous fire last week, has arranged for temporary office facilities on site and are continuing to operate the best they can under the present circumstances. Owner Gary McKnight was overwhelmed by the kind assistance of so many members of the community following the fire. This is just one of the benefits of living and doing business in the Highlands.

Those of you who have been in contact with our office recently are probably aware that our office manager, Elaine Blakey has been absent and in hospital since the end of July. Patti Prentice has been very capably filling in for her in her absence. We are pleased to say that Elaine is now home from hospital and well on the way to recovery.

Our "Welcome Centre" sign at the office is certainly readable from both directions thanks to the kind assistance of Don Smedmore at the E.J. Motel. Don and his hired hands restored the base of the sign and cleared some of the obstructions around it -- and cut all our grass again. Helpful members like Don certainly are welcome when the restrictions of a tight budget are evident.

COMING EVENTS

With one more week before Labour Day we are still not aware of any details on Fall events. We sincerely hope that we will have some worth while activities to promote along with the colour supplied by Mother Nature. In the meantime, don't miss the big Kinnmount Fair on the Labour Day Week-end. Kinnmount has become famous for it's excellent fair and we can guarantee you will not be disappointed.

Also on Labour Day weekend, and more specifically, Saturday, September 5, commencing at 11:00 a.m., the Minden Curling Club are holding a giant Auction Sale in the new Curling rink. All funds are in aid of their building fund so you can help pay for this new facility while picking up a few bargains.
